Heated primary races in final campaigning week

Candidates in some hotly contested primary races go into their final week of campaigning Monday before the Saturday vote to pick the standard-bearers for both parties in the county.

Primary elections for the Democratic and Republican parties will be Saturday in various locations in the county.

Already, many candidates, particularly in the most sought-after elective posts, have visited Canyon and West Texas State University several times since campaigning began actively in February.

No appearances are scheduled officially for candidates this week in the city, but many candidates are expected to make informal hand-shaking tours of the city and campus.

Campaign activity came to a head here last weekend with the visit to Canyon of many of the candidates.

Possibly the race of most interest to local voters will be the race for U.S. Congressman on the Democratic primary ballot.

Three men seek the Demo nod on Saturday to have a chance to knock-off Incumbent GOP Congressman Bob Price in the November elections.

Jack Hightower, a state senator from Vernon, Dr. Louis Finney, an Amarillo neurosurgeon, and Ray Ruffin, a former recording exectuive, seek the Democratic bid to challenge Price in November.

All three challengers have visited Canyon and WTSU numerous times since February.

Another race, which has not received widespread interest in the Panhandle, is the race for the Democratic contender in the governor post.

Incumbent Gov. Dolph Briscoe, a Democrat, is back on the primary ballot facing three opponents, the most prominent of which is Frances "Sissy" Farenthold.

Mrs. Farenthold has made two spring visits to Canyon, both to West Texas State University.

Two other gubernatorial challengers are W. H. Posey and Steve Alexander, neither of whom have visited the city or campus.

Another hot race on the Democratic primary ballot pits Ed Fletcher, an Amarillo businessman, against Bob Simpson, Amarillo attorney, for the nod for the 65th District of the state legislature.

Both Fletcher and Simpson have made frequent speeches and hand-shaking tours in Canyon.

Three challengers seek the Democratic nod to the bench of 47th district court, a seat to be left by incumbent Judge Gene Jordan.

O. M. Calhoun, Herbert C. Martin and Bryan Poff, all Amarillo attornies, have campaigned in the city. Calhoun has practiced law for more than 20 years in Amarillo. Martin is a former justice on the court of civil appeals and Poff is currently state legislator for this district.

A race has also developed in the Democratic bid for county treasurer with Fern Patterson, who lives south of Amarillo, and Bob McClendon, an Amarillo attorney, vying for their party's nomination.

Mrs. Patterson has run on a ticket emphasizing the need to modernize the county treasurer's office while McClendon has run on the platform that he will lobby to abolish the office of county treasurer if elected.

Two candidates seek the Republican nod in the Saturday primary to run against the Democratic standard-bearer in November for state governor. They are Jim Granberry and Odell McBrayer, two men who have not campaigned in the county area.

One hotly contested race is foreseen for the Republicans on the primary ballot — the race for county commissioner of precinct 4.

John W. McCann, a retired Air Force officer, James F. Rittenberry, an Amarillo architect, and Dee Griffin Sr., an Amarillo businessmen seek the primary win.

The three have campaigned in the city and McCann has sat in on county commission meetings for more than six months.

Sheila Thomason named valedictorian for CHS

Sheila Thomason of Canyon has been named 1974 valedictorian at Canyon High School, according to John Sommer, high school principal.

Miss Thomason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Thomason of 22 Country Club Drive, led this year's graduating class with a grade average of 97.6852.

Mary Townsend, with an average of 96.4840, is salutatorian for this year, Sommer said.

Miss Townsend is daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Townsend of 507 25th St.

Miss Thomason, an active member of the Office Education Club of America at CHS, is president of the Junior Engineering Technical Society at the school. She is also a member of the National Honor Society. She is employed under the OEA program by The Davis Agency here.

Citing her parents interest in her education, Miss Thomason said teachers at CHS had been helpful in her four years here.

A product of Canyon schools throughout her education, Miss Thomason said she is not yet sure where she will attend college. She said she will enter either pre-medical training or pharmacy.

Miss Townsend, who has received many honors recently for a summer research project on ground water pollution, is vice president of the Junior Engineering Technical Society and is a member of the National Honor Society.

Effect of wage increases seen minimal for locals

Governmental units in Randall County will be only slightly affected when the minimum wage law goes into effect Wednesday giving many workers here a boost in pay.

Only a handful of workers in governmental units in the county are now drawing the minimum wage, a survey last week indicated.

City Manager George Loudder said only one problem area will exist for the city in the new minimum wage law — pay affecting part-time workers.

He said the city budget office is currently working out data to determine the impact of the new law on the city's budget.

"We've already begun to reduce the number of hours to be worked by part-time people," he said. The minimum wage for part-time employees goes from $1.60 per hour to $1.90 per hour on Wednesday.

Loudder said the city will maintain its budget by cutting back on the number of part-time employees hired this summer.

The new law may also affect the operation of the city-funded summer youth recreation program, he said. But, the budget office has not yet come up with final figures on the impact the new law will have on that program.

Most other city employees, Loudder said, are drawing above the new minimum wage scale and many may be due for further raises later in the summer when a salary and wage study is completed for the city.

County Judge Woody Pond said the new minimum wage law will have little impact on the county's budget since almost all employees are now drawing $2 per hour or more.

Supt. of Schools Jerry Jacobs said most of the part-time employees of the school district are on the minimum wage of $1.60 and will be affected by the hike.

The school employs 18 part-time bus drivers, about a dozen part-time custodians and several part-time cafeteria workers.

Some full-time custodians and cafeteria workers are also making the minimum wage now, he said.

"We're in a quandary about what to do," Jacobs said, noting that the school minimum wage scale goes to $1.90 rather than $2 on Wednesday. "We may go ahead and go to $2 for some because that's what they've been led to believe they're going to get."

Jacobs said news media reports that the minimum wage would rise to $2 may have left many workers with the impression the hike Wednesday will be to $2 per hour.

"We can't afford to make them that unhappy particularly since we're just looking at the month of May for this year," he said.

Virgil Henson, financial vice-president at West Texas State University, said the wage hike will have a very minor effect on the campus.

He said the university has applied for a special dispensation to pay student workers 85 per cent of the minimum wage.

He said between 15 and 20 employees will be affected by the minimum wage hike.

Total increases for employees this spring will amount to about $700, he said.

Barmaid relates assault account

A part-time Amarillo barmaid told Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson Thursday she was assaulted earlier this month by a Randall County man convicted in 1969 for the rape of a 13-year-old girl.

Wilson, presiding at an examining trial for Jerry Lee Williams, 35, of the Palisades, ordered Williams bound over to the Grand Jury for consideration.

Williams is charged with assault with intent to rape in connection with the April 19 incident. He was given eight years probation after a jury found him guilty of statutory rape five years ago.

The prosecutrix, a 28-year-old waitress and barmaid, was the only witness called during the examining trial. Williams did not make a statement.

She told the judge she was working at the Corral Lounge in Amarillo when she met Williams, who had been in the bar much of the day on April 9.

On direct examination, she said Williams had drunk between 10 and 15 drinks throughout the day and had asked her to have supper with him.

She consented, she said, and he followed her to her home in South Amarillo, shortly after 7 p.m.

"I said 'there'll be no hanky panky at my house — you'll act like a gentleman,' " she quoted herself as saying to Williams.

The woman said she was resting, with her feet propped up on her coffee table, when Williams tried to kiss her, "and I said 'don't do that.' "

After several more attempts at kissing her, she said, the phone rang and she and then Williams used the telephone for various conversations.

Then, she testified, she went back to the couch to rest and Williams grabbed her by the feet and jerked her length-wise on the couch and began to assault her.

She said he hit her in the chin and grabbed her by the throat.

"He had this wild look in his eye and I thought this is not worth dying over," she testified. Then, she said, she relaxed

Many farms seek funds for wheat

A total of 317 farms out of about 700 in Randall County have requested appraisal for wheat abandonment payments through the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Director Don Lloyd said not all wheat acreage on all those farms have been affected by the drouth.

He said appraisers have been busy in the county eyeing the wheat crop and should be able to finish up the appraisal before regular harvest time.

County joint service problems include more than fire costs

Randall County commissioners will repeat the same procedure they went through last year in working out a joint services agreement with the City of Canyon when they meet Monday night with Amarillo city commissioners for a similar reason.

Focus of the Monday night session, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in the Amarillo city hall, will be the fee charged by Amarillo to fight fires in rural Randall County areas.

But, several other joint service items are also expected to be discussed at the meeting, items which either the city or the county provide for each other.

County Judge Woody Pond said the county will go into the meeting with the primary goal of discussing the services the city and county provide each other and working out an equitable fee system or trade system for those services.

"It's not necessarily to charge a big fee but to negotiate the exchanges where we can benefit them," Pond said.

Pond said the crux of the problem seems to be the $845 per fire fee charged by Amarillo to fight fires in the rural areas of the county.

"We appreciate the service we get from their fire department but as high as their cost is we need to work out some agreement for a contract to pay so much a year like we have in the past," he said. "There's no way we can budget under the set-up now."

As of Jan. 1, the city began charging the county $845 per fire call answered in the county north of Hollywood Road.

Records in the county auditor's office indicate Amarillo fire units have answered nine calls in the county since that time at a total cost to the county of $7605.

Four of the nine fires have been grass fires and the most men sent to any one of the grass fires was five men in two units. Most time spent at a grass fire has been one hour.

One fire answered by Amarillo and for which the county was charged $845 was a false alarm. Three men traveled five miles and spent 24 minutes on that alarm.

Another involved a building where no fire was found. Again three men travelled six miles one way and spent 30 minutes on the scene.

One fire involved the contents of a building. Two units with six men spent three hours at the blaze.

Apparently, the only two Randall County areas which take or provide services to the City of Amarillo are the county clerk's office and the county tax office.

Currently, in the tax office, the city provides a copy of the file of Amarillo properties in Randall County at a cost of $3000 to the county.

Amarillo also furnishes the tax office copies of appraisals on new construction in Randall County, name and address changes affecting the county, lists of business personal property within the county, and legal descriptions of all new accounts or accounts affected by split outs or additions. Cost to the county for that service is $11,000 annually.

Currently, the county tax office is providing at no charge about $20,000 worth of tax work in the motor vehicle area.

Shooting incident eyed at Happy area feedlot

The Randall County district attorney's office continued at week's end an investigation into a shooting incident which occurred Wednesday afternoon at Happy Wheat Growers Feedyard.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said no charges have been filed in the shooting and said he had more witnesses to talk to before a determination would be made on charges.

The incident occurred about 5:45 p.m. Wednesday at the feedyard south of Canyon, scene for the last two weeks of a massive cattle exodus and corporate upheaval.

Sheriff's deputies said the incident involved one of the security guards which have been posted at the feedyard gates for more than two weeks, and the driver of a feed truck.

Deputy Reedy McDonald reported that security guard Pete Little told him a feed truck driven by Dan Bedwell, son of former feedyard manager Wayne Bedwell, failed to stop at the gate when he left the yard.

The guard told McDonald he tried to flag down the truck.

"He said that he pulled his pistol out and fired one round into the ground and that the truck kept going," McDonald reported. "Little advised that he then fired two rounds at the truck as it was going west from the lot and the truck never did stop."

Little told deputies he's sure he hit the truck because he heard the round pierce the shell.

Bedwell told deputies he did not stop at the gate because he had driven the truck in and out of the feedyard throughout the day and had not had to stop previously.

McDonald reported that Bedwell said he believed he

Linda Montgomery, employee in the Randall County clerk's office, takes time to appreciate the bluebonnets, Texas' state flower, as they bloom outside the downtown courthouse. Courthouse gardener Leroy Miller planted the bluebonnets last fall and with care and concern, they have bloomed, a rare thing in the Texas Panhandle.

Past indicates voters apathetic

Light turnout, cross-overs seen for Sat.

Primary elections are notorious for two things — an extremely light voter turn-out and cross-over balloting.

With the two major political parties' primary elections only a week away, party officials here are eyeing both phenomena.

While County Clerk LeRoy Hutton must order more than enough ballots to furnish one for each registered voter in the county — and that number is more than 30,000 now — he says it's been years since the total vote from both primaries tallied 50 per cent of the county's registered voters.

On the other hand, it's been several years since fewer than 50 per cent of the registered voters have cast ballots in November general elections here.

In the 1972 general election, for example, a total of 83 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots.

In the primaries, turnout has been poor.

The Democratic Primary in 1970 pulled only 29.9 per cent of the voters, for example, or 6400 voters out of a potential of 21,400.

The showing in the Republican Primary was even poorer with 11.32 per cent of the 21,000 registered voters casting ballots.

In the 1970 general election, 14,389 persons voted or 67.4 per cent of the registered voters.

In the 1966 primary for the Democrats only 2644 voters went to the polls. The Republican primary pulled in only 455 voters in 1966.

The presidential election year of 1972 pulled in many more Democratic voters for the May primaries than did the Republicans.

Forty per cent of the registered voters voted in the Democratic primary that year, which saw the aftermath of the Sharpstown scandals.

Texas does not have a presidential primary.

While the Democratic primary has seemingly consistently pulled more balloting than has the Republican primary in Randall County, Republican candidates seem to consistently win in the November general elections.

Randall County voters went overwhelmingly for Nixon and Agnew in 1972. They also cast their ballots for Republican challenger gubernatorial candidate Hank Grover. Congressman Bob Price was also elected handsomely on the Republican ticket.

The cross-over vote, says Randall County Republican chairman Mrs. Betty Sterquell, has much to do with that phenomenon.

Nix To Horse Racing

By ANN BROWN

On September 10, 1961, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion predicted that in 20 years the Soviet Union would be a Democratic country, and the United States a welfare state... He was so quoted in the New York Herald Tribune, September 11, 1961.

Russian travelers report that the USSR is becoming more democratic, and free enterprise is being actively encouraged there. Hunger, they admit, is driving them to it.

If free-enterprise American farmers had not furnished the grain paid for by free enterprise American taxpayers, the Russians would have been starved out of communism long ago.

Nikita Krushchev is quoted in the Congressional Record, Senate, July 26, 1961, page 12622, as saying, "We cannot expect the Americans to jump from Capitalism to Communism, but we can assist their elected leaders in giving Americans small doses of Socialism, until they suddenly awake to find they have Communism."

"On January 31, 1961, the United Press International quotes Mr. Arthur Schleisinger, Jr., Presidential assistant and speech writer, as asserting that the welfare state is the best defense against Communism." — Cong. Record, Senate, July 26, 1961, page 12624.

On July 31, 1961, Senator Strom Thurmond was quoted as saying the welfare staters admit Russian military might pose a threat to America, but deny the graver threat of world Communism.

"If Americans were fully informed on the inter-relation of Communism and Socialism and welfare statism and also the threat of internal subversion, then the welfare staters would be deposed from all positions of power and influence," said Thurmond.

The excuse the welfare staters give for dividing the wealth, which means taking from the haves and giving to the have nots (which equals communism), is that man's greatest need is economic security.

Economic security has always been available in any prison or asylum.

The American Indians have "enjoyed" a welfare state for generations. They remain the poorest people in America.

What do the scions of wealth usually do who have enough money to guarantee them all the economic security in the world?

Remember the oleomargarine heir who started throwing money out of hotel windows as soon as his grandfather died — even before he actually got his hands on the "dirty money" he had inherited?

That young man reportedly ended up a disillusioned suicide. Economic security did not solve his problems.

Numberless heirs could be cited who have challenged death climbing mountains, racing automobiles, sky diving, etc., or died paupers after gambling away the hard-earned fortunes their fathers and grandfathers left them.

When inherited wealth or the welfare state deprives a man of the natural thrill of earning his living, he must search elsewhere for excitement.

Who are the vandals who are trying to wreck our country? They are usually either the offspring of wealthy parents or welfare recipients. At any rate they are idle youngsters looking for thrills in pills, alcohol, narcotics, and gambling.

Rare indeed is the farmer's son who is hunting excitement — especially gambling. He gambles every day against overwhelming odds of bugs, wind, hail, drouth, and the marketplace.

Wagering money on a deck of cards, a football game, or a horse race is penny ante compared to the wagers the farmer places every season against the elements, pests, and prices.

If the farmer wins, the IRS takes his bank account; if he loses, the banker takes his farm.

The farmer is the most economically insecure of all Americans, yet he lives longer and has better health than any other group. How do the welfare staters explain that?

On May 4, pari mutuel betting will again rear its ugly head in Texas. "Give the folks a little excitement," say the pros. "Give the poor man a chance to get rich."

The only people who will get rich from the pari mutuel gambling will be the crime syndicates, the liquor interests, and the professional gamblers.

The poor certainly can't get into farming for excitement; that takes a fortune. But they could plant a garden. They could experience some of the farmer's thrills from watching the hail clouds and the first bloom on their tomato vines, and they would realize far more profit from their gardens than they could ever hope to get from a horse race.

Gambling will divide the wealth — true: It takes from the needy and gives to the greedy — just like the welfare state.

Another Tape From The SLA

By CARROLL WILSON

It came in a brown paper sack.

One of the guys in jail (they can see our office from their second story vantage point) said a fellow in fatigues left it at the front door late Thursday. He thought it was just a ROTC cadet since Thursday's drill day.

We called the FBI.

"Hi, I'm Ekrem Cymbalist Junior," the FBI man said, grinning, shaking my hand with one hand and flashing a wallet-type shiny silver badge under the flourescent lighting with the other.

"Uh, sorry to bother you Mr. Junior, but we got this, uh, paper sack here and, uh, we thought we ought to call you when we saw these snakes and letters on it here," we told him. "We think maybe it's from the Symbionese Liberation Army."

Mr. Junior jumped the front counter, rolled over a desk and came up on both feet with the telephone receiver to his ear.

"Operator, get me Washington," he said, "This is an emergency . . .

"Hello, chief. Junior here in West Texas. We got another SLA tape. In Canyon, Canyon, Texas. Yeh, No, no I haven't listened to it yet. Okay, chief."

Then, turning to us:

"Chief wants you to play the tape and I'll hold the receiver so he can hear it."

"Which track d'ya want to hear?" I asked.

" 'Swine Song in A minor?' Or, 'I Don't Give A Damn About a Greenback Dollar?' They're both, it says here, by Patty and Pandemonium Pork Pokers."

At Mr. Junior's direction, we switched on track one and he moved Mr. Chief's ear closer to the recorder.

After listening to a low buzzing noise for 18 minutes, we finally heard the song that's topped the charts this year:

"Frankly," said the feminine voice, "my parents are a couple of pigs. They're the ones who've been brainwashed. And, Michael. Well, Michael is a sexist pig and frankly I don't care if I never see him again."

Mr. Junior took notes wildly, balancing a notebook on one knee, writing with one hand and holding Mr. Chief's ear to the recorder.

"Even so, I have decided to leave the SLA and return to civilian life, but . . ."

Mr. Junior's pencil lead shattered and his knee twitched violently.

". . . there are certain conditions to my return."

Grasping another pencil, Mr. Junior wrote furiously.

"First, I want full GI Bill benefits and the right to a VA loan and VA hospital care. I see no reason to defend my position. I am a soldier in the people's Army."

The tape ended and Mr. Junior reached into his inside coat pocket.

"You know how to handle this, don't you Junior?" queried the muffled voice of Mr. Chief over the telephone receiver.

No sooner had Mr. Junior replied "Yes, Chief," than he had extracted the tape from the recorder and began splicing another tape to the end.

"For the news media," he explained. "It makes their job much easier and helps us control the situation." He turned on his portion of the tape:

"I reiterate. Her mother and I believe Patty has been brainwashed. She would never talk like that about us."

"From experience," Mr. Junior grinned, "we know what he's going to say."

And, then, poking the tape into his pocket, hanging up Mr. Chief, Mr. Junior headed out the door.

"Gotta hurry," he said, "I'm the only agent on this case right now. Mr. _____ out of Dallas is supervising the next episode of a television series right now, and Mr. _____ out of Washington is still trying to explain to Mr. Nixon why we didn't do better on Watergate, and Mr. _____ is over at the CIA trying to learn how to bug office buildings, and Mr. _____ is busy making up the latest crime statistics, and Mr. _____ is . . ."

Four New Courses Added At School

Distributive Education will be one of four new courses added at the beginning of the 1974 fall quarter at Canyon High School, according to Carroll Killingsworth, high school counselor. Other new classes will be consumer math, research techniques, Literature of the American West and Office Education Pre-Employment Lab.

Distributive Education will allow the student to take part in a work-study program. The instructor for the course is yet to be named.

Literature of the American West will be taught by Mrs. Morris Westbury. This course will include traditional tales and ballads of the frontier years as well as works by recognized authors such as A. B. Guthrie, Bret Harte, Willa Cather, Mark Twain, Jonquin Miller, Jack London, and J. Frank Dobie. Some of the readings are "Giants in the Earth," "Ordeal by Hunger," "Rough Street," and "The Oregon Trail."

Research techniques, to be taught by Mrs. Ricky Mantooth, will be a "how to" course. The student will learn how to use the tools of research in English composition. This course is designed for the college bound student.

Office Education will be taught by Mrs. Georgia Lee. This course will deal with learning actual office procedure. Students who are enrolled in this class will work for two hours each day.

According to Carroll Killingsworth, students have filled out tentative enrollment forms for the fall semester. From these forms a tally was made to know what classes would be offered and how many sections there would be in each class. From this, a master schedule was prepared for the fall term.

Each student was given a copy of the master schedule with a time designated for the student to meet with the counselor. At this time the student's schedule will be finalized. The student will know his class schedule for next fall and the teachers will know who their students will be.

Under this plan the student will also have the opportunity to choose the teacher they desire along with the class.

Orientation For Kindergarten

All parents and their children who will be enrolled in kindergarten next year are invited to an orientation meeting at Rex Reeves Elementary and Gene Howe Elementary.

Letters to the Editor

Other Campuses Keeping Faculty

Dear Editor:

As one who will soon be leaving Canyon to begin academic responsibilities elsewhere in the state, I was especially gratified to read WT President Lloyd Watkins' thoughtful and considerate expression of concern in retaining the dynamic members of the University faculty. A generalization in his statement of April 25, however, requires amplification.

Having spent most of his life in California, this writer would note that major components of the University of California system are making valiant efforts to retain their faculty, despite serious enrollment problems. This is true particularly with the University of California at Riverside (UCR) which has, over three years, experienced an enrollment decline parallel to that of WT. Through early dialogue between faculty and administration, an absolute hiring freeze, combining of Arts & Sciences with Fine Arts, new interdisciplinary programs utilizing existing faculty, and the shuttling of faculty with several specialties into related departments with higher enrollments, UCR, at this writing, feels that it can retain thirty faculty whom it would otherwise have terminated. The achievement is the more remarkable in view of the fact that the present Governor of California is not numbered among the most zealous supporters of higher education.

It takes work to follow the UCR example, in the wake of much hand-wringing about the general state of higher education. But a great university requires hard work. In emulating exceptions like UCR and in questioning hand-wringing generalizations and moribund patterns of bureaucracy, WT can serve as a leader in the Golden Spread, in the state, and in the nation.

Very sincerely,
John W. Cranston

Patrons Need To Aid Postmen

Dear Editor:

Here are a few observations and suggestions I would like to make concerning the Postal Service. First, I wonder if the postal patron has ever taken a good look at the Postal Service from the other side of the fence? Has it ever occurred to him that he is somewhat responsible for the way the system works? Often, when he does not accept this responsibility, those of us in the service have to spend valuable time playing the "GUESSING GAME." When we receive mail illegibly, incorrectly or incompletely addressed, we have to spend time (and time is valuable) trying to decide to whom it should go, or where "such and such" a person lives. We know a lot of people, and we know where many of them live, but we do not know everybody, nor do we know the address of every person we do know.

Second, here are some suggestions that IF FOLLOWED would improve the system.

1. Address mail correctly, box number or street address, and zip code.
2. Write legibly.
3. Make sure businesses and other correspondents have your correct MAILING address.
4. As a double check, businesses should be sure they have their customers CORRECT MAILING address.
5. Make sure your packages are properly wrapped (a postal worker doesn't like having to ask you to re-wrap your package but he knows it will not reach its destination as is).
6. It would be helpful if ALL large volume mailers would presort their mail — local and out of town.
7. When changing address notify the Post Office at once — there are special forms for you to fill out.
8. Notify regular correspondents and publishers of change — special forms at the Post Office available for this purpose also.

Finally, we would ask you to please bear in mind that we are trying to make the transition from a system that has been in operation for two hundred years to a more up-to-date one. The employees in the Canyon Post Office want to give good service, so please help us by accepting your responsibility. And please give us some credit for the thousands of letters and packages we do deliver promptly — even some of these have involved the "GUESSING GAME."

George T. Stevens, Jr.

Great Gatsby Evening Planned For Fall '74

Operation Facelift will be aided through efforts of the advisory council and local individuals as plans are finalized later on a fall fund raising function to be known as the "Great Gatsby Evening," according to steering committee chairman, Ann Asquith.

The evening will be a formal affair for Canyon-Amarillo and all area residents and will include movies, show tunes, and fashions from the era of the 20's.

According to Mrs. Asquith "there is even a possibility that a 1926 film 'The Great Gatsby' which is currently in a private collection may be obtained for showing that evening."

Named as committee chairmen for the upcoming fall project were Mrs. Charles Smallwood, Jim Holston and James Kemmerling for the decoration and lighting committee; Mrs. J. R. Thomas, programs chairman; George Umberson, music committee; Mrs. Bill Sternenberg, Mrs. A. M. Warren and Mrs. H. R. Fulton, table decorations; and Mrs. Wayne Ray and Mrs. David Wheeler, desserts committee.

Also chairing committees will be Mrs. B. R. Evans in charge of modeling with Mrs. Barry Duman, co-chairman, in charge of jewelry fashions; Mrs. V. H. Cotton and Mrs. Don Max Vars, publicity working chairmen; and Dr. Emilio Caballero and Dr. Marion Galvin, artwork.

Colonel John Childs, president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, will head ticket sales.

Local residents who have a talent to add to any committee may contact the committee chairman or a member of the steering committee, according to Mrs. Asquith.

Two Local Students Gain National Art Recognition

Diana Davis and Steve McDaniel have received national recognition through the Scholastic Art Awards, a program conducted by Scholastic Magazines, Inc. The awards are for the encouragement of creative expression among secondary-school students.

Both McDaniel and Davis submitted eight pieces of work to Scholastic. These works consisted of paintings, drawings, cartoons and textures, according to the students' ability.

Steve McDaniel

Davis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Davis of Canyon. McDaniel is the son of Mrs. W.M. Tucker of Palisades.

Davis won a full tuition scholarship to the University of Tulsa for one year. McDaniel won a full tuition scholarship to the School of Visual Arts, New York City for three years.

The awards include 402 gold medals mounted on walnut plaques for outstanding work in painting, drawing, printmaking, design, sculpture, pottery, and metalwork. Also 69 scholarships and 519 honorable mention certificates were awarded.

These national awards are the climax of a program which started with regional exhibitions across the nation earlier in the year. Submitted to the 52 regional sponsors was an estimated total of 150,000 entries from schools in those areas. About 8,000 "blue ribbon" finalists were selected by regional judges and forwarded to Scholastic in New York for national judging. A group of 27 artists and art educators served on the judging panels in New York.

The work winning gold medals and cash awards will be displayed at Scholastic's 47th annual National High School Art Exhibition, to be held June 11-27 in the Union Carbide Exhibition Hall, New York City.

W. B. Bacon, right, presented slides showing civil war battle grounds to the eighth grade American history classes at Canyon Junior High School Friday. Bacon, originally from Brooklin, Mass., is a Canyon resident and works for the atomic energy commission at Pantex in Amarillo. He is a civil war buff. Pictured with him is Mrs. Cooper, who teaches American history at CJHS.

Cancer Conquest Seminar Is May 1

"Conquest of Cancer" will be the theme of a seminar to be held Wednesday, May 1, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Hilton Inn in Amarillo with H.J. Sannan, M.D., as the keynote speaker.

Dr. Sannan is vice president of medical affairs for the western area of the American Cancer Society in Denver, Colo. His topic will be "Research — Hope For The Future."

Sponsoring the one day seminar will be the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Panhandle Economic Program (PEP). PEP is designed to help area families have a better way of life in all phases of economics and good family health is a real asset to family financial security.

Paige Carruth, Ph.D., West Texas State University will speak at 10:45 a.m. on "Prevention Through Education." In Texas the leading causes of death are heart disease, cancer and strokes. It is reported that cancer will strike one of four United States citizens according to the statistics of the American Cancer Society.

A film "What Is Cancer" and a slide presentation on "The Lynn Hilton Story" will be given on the program along with a panel discussion on "Cancer Diagnosis and Treatment" which will be moderated by A.G. Goldston, M.D. Serving on the panel with Dr. Goldston are a dentist, surgeon and specialists using radiation and chemotheraphy. The panel will also answer questions from the audience.

About 700 people from the 25-county Panhandle area are expected to attend the program which is open to the general public at no charge. Numerous local home demonstration clubwomen are planning to attend.

H. J. Sannan, M.D.

News Brief

Weldon and Evelyn Trice of Canyon were among judges for the District Lions Club beauty contest held in Plainview over the weekend.

Operation Facelift Council Boosted With Idea Session

Operation Facelift's advisory council received a boost of ideas Tuesday evening as the group held a discussion involving future plans to enhance the grounds and outlook of the campus at West Texas State University.

"We hope that our efforts to enhance the campus will be noticed and felt across the whole scope of the area," according to Ann Asquith, steering committee chairman.

At Tuesday's meeting plans were reviewed and brought up to date in regard to a planned bicentennial fountain and plaza and the possibility of sculpture points being added to the campus was discussed by the group.

The development of an outdoor eating area for students was suggested. It is to be located near the East Dining Hall on the campus.

Delbert Burrows of D-B Associates of Amarillo, who resides at 1704 Creekmere, offered to help the committee by using his architectural designing background in making further developments on the plaza area.

Dwayne Wootten, grounds supervisor for the university, also discussed landscaping plans for the campus and will work with Burrows in planning landscaping the arch.

"We hope that any other resident of Canyon or Amarillo that has talents to share on this endeavor will feel free to call myself or some other member of the steering committee," said Mrs. Asquith.

Working alongside Mrs. Asquith are Mary Watkins, honorary chairman; Dorothy Daugherty, 655-2470; Mary Lou Farnum, 655-9856; Helen Freidell, 655-9549; Jane Munsell, 655-3698; Beth Nelson, 655-4584; Peggy Smallwood, 655-4543; Jane Wheeler, 655-9217; and Bettye Winter, 352-7530. The chairman, Mrs. Asquith, may be reached at 655-3026.

Plans were formulated for a fall fund-raising function and it is planned to be a formal evening for Canyon and Amarillo residents as well as all others who might care to join the group. The formal evening will feature an orchestra with show tunes and a special movie from the 20's and is being planned for late October.

"We are even hoping to gain access to 'The Great Gatsby' film from 1926 which is presently in a private collection to show that evening," said Mrs. Asquith.

In addition to the film, or one from that era, Mrs. Asquith related that an orchestra will provide show tunes from the 20's and there will be informal modeling of furs and fashions from that time period. Also planned are entertainment by the New Day Singers, elaborate decorations, and even a special 20's dessert and coffee course.

"We are planning to invite Lady Bird Johnson as a special guest and hope that she is able to come," stated the chairman. Plans for the "Gatsby Evening" will be finalized at the council's July meeting. Committee chairmen were selected Tuesday.

The Operation Facelift meeting Tuesday evening had representatives from virtually all of Canyon's various clubs including the Canyon Study Club, Woman's Book Club, Panhellenic Council and Junior Forum, Heritage Woman's Club, Canyon Dames, Campfire Girls, Wives, Etc., Women's Division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, American Association of University Women, University Study Club, Fine Arts Club and the Noon Lions Club.

Two WT Seniors In Recital Tues.

Sister Carolyn Rejino and Katherine Moore will be presented in a joint senior recital at West Texas State University at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Branding Iron Theatre.

Sister Carolyn of Amarillo, is a senior music education major. She is a student of Jerry Doan.

Ms. Moore of Amarillo, is also a music education major, and a student of Stanley Potter.

Sister Carolyn will sing three Italian songs by Stefano Donaudy and Julio Osma's "Cantares de mi terra." She will also present Bainbridge Cris's "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes" and Irving Fine's "Childhood Fables for Adults."

Sister Carolyn will be accompanied by Lydia Grey at the piano.

Ms. Moore will present works by Bach and Haydn on the piano. She will also play three works of Chopin — "Prelude in C# minor," "Etude in E Major" and "Waltz in A Major."

The recital is in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Bachelor of Music Education degrees in voice and piano.

The recital is free to the public.

Historical Society To Meet Friday

The 53rd annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be May 3 on the WTSU campus.

First on the agenda will be a business meeting at 3 p.m. in the upstairs art gallery of the Museum building. Among items to be considered will be the election of new officers.

Dr. James A. Hanson, named associate director of the Museum in January, will be presented to the society. Hanson, 26, of Chadron Neb., will become director of the museum following C. Boone McClure's retirement in August.

The annual dinner begins at 7 p.m. in WT's East Dining Hall. Music will be provided by the WTSU String Quartet.

Teachers Attend Conference

Two resource teachers and one counselor from the Canyon Independent School District attended a Learning Disabilities Conference at the University of Arizona this past week.

Those attending were Ellen Wilson, resource teacher at Gene Howe Elementary, Jan Winstead, resource teacher at Rex Reeves Elementary and Dorothea Ford, counselor at Gene Howe and Canyon Junior High School.

According to Ms. Ford, the conference was basicly to consult with Corrine Kass, director of learning disabilities in the Special Education Department of the University of Arizona. While there, the group also consulted with Dr. Chalfant, director of the learning disabilities lab at Rofkruge School.

The three reviewed university classes concerning Psyco-Education Studies in learning disabilities. They also had opportunity to visit with Dr. Jack Havertate and Dr. B. Aldrich, a visiting professor from the University of British Columbia. They discussed assessment and rehabilitation for children and adults.

The three were members of a panel that discussed questions asked by doctoral students in the special services field.

Trains T-37 Jet Pilots

First Lieutenant Clifford Sherrod is presently serving with the United States Air Force as an instructor pilot at Columbus Air Force Base in Columbus, Miss.

He trains two pilot trainees through the complete flight program on the T-37 training jets, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Sherrod of Canyon. He has been stationed in Mississippi since last August.

Clifford is married to the former, Brenda Keeling, who is the daughter of Mrs. J. V. Moore of Canyon.

Churchlife Happenings

The First Christian Church of Canyon has received a spinet organ as a gift for the new chapel at the church's new building (the former Central Church of Christ building). The new organ is a gift from Frances Foster of Canyon. The organ was brought from Amarillo by Keith Himes with Ron Boyter and Ross Russell helping to unload it.

An ice cream supper will be held at Conner Park in Canyon Wednesday evening, May 1, beginning at 6 p.m. for the College and Career Department of Calvary Baptist Church.

A "festive community" sandwich dinner will be held Sunday, April 28, at 11 a.m. for members and guests of the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon. If it is raining or windy, the group will meet at the Farm Bureau Building here. Those attending are asked to bring a favorite sandwich filling, their own drinks and a blanket to the park.

Mrs. Carroll Wilson, 1816 7th Avenue, will hostess the May 1 meeting of Circle V of the First Presbyterian Church in her home at 9:30 a.m.

Moss Richardson Circle of the First United Methodist Church will meet in the home of Mrs. H. E. Campfield, 1005 5th Avenue, on Tuesday, April 30.

New and used toys for the Pediatric Ward of St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo are being collected by the United Campus Ministries group and a collection box is located at the Episcopal Center, 2516 Fourth Avenue, for those who desire to participate.

Sunday, April 28, the nursery for the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon will be held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jim Underwood, 2504 11th Avenue.

Terry White, minister of the First Christian Church of Canyon, was accompanied by 13 church youths, two adult sponsors and church representatives, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Higdon and Mrs. Lydia Matsler, to the Hi-Plains Area convention held in Lubbock during the weekend.

Pat White will hostess the Young Women's Coffee Group of the First Christian Church at her home, 2005 4th Avenue, Wednesday morning at 9:30 a.m., May 1.

Vietnam war veteran, Dan Shaeffer, was the guest speaker for a gathering of Canyon's youth Saturday evening at the Youth Activities Building, 3rd Avenue and 17th Street. Shaeffer is currently a student at Wayland Baptist College, and pastor of Valley View Baptist Church in Olton.

Also on the youth program were drama presentations by the Baptist Student Union of West Texas State University, singing by the musical groups and refreshments.

A supper for the Koinonia Group of the First Christian Church will be held tonight, April 28, at 6 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, 513 Holman Lane. The group will continue their studies of transactional analysis following the supper for which all are asked to provide a meat dish and either salad or dessert.

United Campus Ministry will sponsor a "clergy day" on the campus of West Texas State University Tuesday, May 2, which will be a day of lectures and meetings planned in a cooperative effort to gain better understanding and communications between area clergy and the university.

The United Campus Ministry is composed of the Disciples of Christ, United Methodist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Catholic and Presbyterian ministers. The event is planned by UCM chaplains, Rev. John Wagoner and Rev. Jim Bethel.

The chorus from Oklahoma Christian College presented a special concert Saturday evening at the Central Church of Christ in Canyon and were later treated to fellowship and a meal at the Bible Chair Building on campus.

Loyalty dinner at the First Baptist Church had a good turnout with over 300 attending. Lenard Hartley was the campaign director for the event and Bill Foil is the church's pastor.

Regular evening worship services for the First Baptist Church of Canyon will undergo a "time change" on Sunday evening, April 28. Services will begin at 7 p.m. rather than at 6 p.m.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The preceding column will become a new feature for the Canyon Sunday News regarding life and activities for our city churches through compilation from the various church newsletters. Local churches which do not publish and send newsletters may forward information regarding activities of their church to the News office, P.O. Box 779, or call the News office.)

Pro Football Players Coming

Seven professional football players will visit Canyon and Amarillo during the week of April 29-May 5. On Saturday, May 4, they will be joined by five more pros who will participate in a flag football game against a team of college all-stars composed mainly of West Texas State University players. Game time will be 7:30 p.m. at Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

Also during the week the athletes will visit the WTSU Campus Crusade for Christ on Tuesday at 7 p.m., the Canyon Lions noon club on Wednesday, Canyon Junior High School at 2:50 p.m. on Thursday and Canyon High School at 2:30 p.m. on Friday. They will also participate in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes golf tournament at Hunsley Hills on Thursday.

The purpose of the week is to give the pros an opportunity to tell others what a personal relationship with Jesus Christ has meant in their lives. Athletes in Action, the athletic ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ, International, sponsors the group.

The flag football game will be divided into four quarters of 15 minutes each. The clock will run continuously except for the last two minutes of each half. At half time, the pros will use the ready-made platform that athletic competition provides to share the adventure and excitement of following Jesus Christ.

Tickets for the game are available at Cooper's Food Store in Canyon. Cost of the tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children. Children under six are admitted free. Proceeds from the game go into the general budget of the Athletes in Action Amarillo Week.

Three Plead Guilty To Charges Here

Three men pleaded guilty to various charges in 181st District Court here last week.

Dwight Smith, 20, of Canyon pleaded guilty to a charge of sodomy and was given a 10-year sentence by Dist. Judge Don Dean. He was charged with sodomy in connection with an incident involving a 4-year-old boy here.

Roy Earl Greer, 17, of Amarillo was given a 4-year probated sentence by Judge Dean after pleading guilty to a charge of auto theft.

Dan Lerick Reid of Amarillo was assessed a 6-month probated sentence and a $150 fine for possession of marijuana.

The Stage Band will perform Wednesday evening, May 1, at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre at West Texas State University.

The performance will be the 63rd program of the 1973-74 season for the School of Fine Arts and is presented by the Department of Music at the university.

The program will open with Quincy Jones's "Ironside" featuring Jamie Martin, alto sax, and Gordon Sturgis, trumpet, followed by Paul Lohorn's jazz "Boss Order" with Sandy McQueen, trombone, and Gary Mingus, piano.

Also will be Bill Holman's "Malaga" with Chuddie Jones on alto sax, Gordon Sturgis, trumpet, and Paula Williams, drums.

Selections from the Jazz Octet will be announced at the program. Appearing as the Jazz Octet are Jamie Martin, alto sax; Kathy Lynn, tenor sax; Kirk Woolery, baritone, Gordon Sturgis, trumpet; Sandy McQueen, trombone; Gary Mingus, piano; Paul Infanti, bass; and Paula Williams, drums.

Following a brief intermission the program will continue with Dominic Spera's "Introduction and Alegro" with Jamie Martin, alto sax, and Doug Laramore, trumpet, being featured.

Other selections will be Steve Spiegl's "Dune Buggy" with Kirk Woolery, tenor sax, and Gary Mingus, synthesizer; Henry Wolking's "Ekhoes" featuring Kirk Woolery, tenor sax, Chuddie Jones, alto sax, and Jamie Martin, soprano sax; and concluding will be Don Schamber's "Into Your Mind" with Sandy McQueen, trombone, and Gary Mingus, synthesizer.

Stage band members include saxophones by Jamie Martin, lead alto; Chuddie Jones, alto; Kirk Woolery and Kathy Lynn, tenors, and Beverly Johnson, baritone. Trumpet players are David Groves, Doug Laramore, Lonnie Clark, Ken Barker, Gordon Sturgis, and Walter Reneau. Trombones are Sandy McQueen, Joe Blades, Tracy Collins, Randy Reeve and Bailey Young.

Other members of the stage band are Gary Mingus, piano; Paul Infanti, bass; Paula Williams, drums; Patti Ferranti and Jane Taylor, flutes; Scout Sharp, vibes; and Mark Workman, guitar with synthesizer set up by Joe Nelson.

The recital is free to the public.

WT Choir-Chorale Performance Today

The University Chorale and Collegiate Choir will be conducted by Hugh Sanders in the fifty-seventh offering of the 1973-74 season by the School of Fine Arts, Department of Music, in a public program this afternoon, April 28, at 3 p.m.

The chorale-choir program will be held in the Fine Arts Building auditorium on the campus of West Texas State University.

Following the musical program, the Friends of Fine Arts will conduct their annual meeting at 4:30 p.m. in the Branding Iron Theatre with Vera Wofford, chairman of the Board of Directors, presiding.

Offerings on the collegiate choir program will be a presentation of "Haec Es Dies" by Gallus to be given by a quartet composed of Kreis Pegram, Rebecca Walker, Billy Talley, and Tony Spann.

Other selections include "This Day" by Dvorak; "Alleluia" by Bach; "Buffalo Gals" arranged by Parker-Shaw with Joe Anderson as tenor.

The University Chorale will present "Sure On This Shining Night" by Barber; "Talk Not To Me" by Kadersvek with Doug Browne as conductor; "Peaceful Waters" arranged by Robinson with David Robinson as conductor; and "Ching-a-Ring Chaw" by Copland.

"Best of Broadway" will be presented by the Combined Choirs and includes "Gonna Build a Mountain" (Stop the World, I Wanna Get Off) arranged by Leyden; "Sound of Music" by Richard Rodgers, "Fiddler On the Roof" arranged by Leyden; "Hair" arranged by Galt MacDermot; and "Pastures Green" (theme from Scandalous John) by Rod McKuen.

Schneider Will Coach Queen Camp

Coach Bob Schneider who was the coach for the AAA state title team from Canyon High School will be among the camp instructors for a Girl's Basketball Camp to be held this summer under the sponsorship of the Hutcherson Flying Queens.

Applications are presently being accepted for the third session of the camp to be held June 30 - July 6.

Coach Dean Weese, who guided the Queens to the AAU and National Women's Invitational tournament championships during the past season, will also serve as a camp instructor. Coach Weese reports that the first two sessions, slated for June, are filled to capacity and only 125 campers are being accepted for each session.

Camp cost is $75 per girl. The fee includes tuition, dormitory, meals, entertainment, insurance and a personalized T-shirt.

Aiding Coach Weese and Coach Schneider in the camp instructions will be Eddie Gipson of Vega, Jimmy Kirkland of Claude and Doug Chauveaux of McCamey. Camp staff members will also include members of the Flying Queens.

Secretary-Boss Honors Bestowed At Banquet

Clarissa Thomas and Dr. Dudley Moore shared the spotlight Thursday evening at the Tierra Blanca chapter of the National Secretaries Association banquet as they were presented with certificates naming them as "secretary of the year" and "boss of the year" before a crowd of about 85 persons.

The banquet was held in the Buffalo Room of the East Dining Hall on the campus of West Texas State University and was the highlight of the local observance of Secretaries Week being observed here.

Mrs. Thomas, whose husband, James, is engaged in farming northeast of Canyon, has been in the secretarial field for eleven years. She is secretary for County Judge Woody Pond and has been active in that capacity for the past 5½ years. She had previously been with the District Attorney's office here for 2 years and prior to moving to Canyon had been secretary two years at Lockheed Aircraft in Burbank, Calif. and two years with International Latex Corp., in Los Angeles, Calif. She and her husband have three children, Nancy, 14; Randy, 13; and John, 11. Aside from her work and active civic life, Mrs. Thomas enjoys art, sewing and music as her hobbies. She is current president of the Tierra Blanca chapter of Secretaries.

Dr. Moore, who received the "boss of the year" certificate and honors, is a graduate of the University of Louisville and earned the BA degree at Baylor University. He interned as a surgeon in 1953 prior to opening his medical practice in Canyon. A highlight of Dr. Moore's rest and recreation time is his ranching interest near Waco. He is a member of the Canyon Rotary Club and the United Methodist Church and is also associated with the Potter-Randall County Medical Society, the American Medical Association, Texas Medical Association and a fellow of the American Medical College of Surgeons.

Dr. Moore and his wife, Lillis, have eight children including Dudley, Jr. (Skip), Joe, Gary, Bill, Bea, Richard, Anna Bland and Eloise.

Also presented at the banquet was a secretarial scholarship from the local chapter which went to Berlinda Saldivar of the Future Secretaries Association at West Texas State University. Miss Saldivar, a sophomore student from Big Spring, Tex., received a $150 scholarship for continuing her studies.

Dr. Hubert Oppe gave the invocation prior to the banquet dinner and the evening's program included a musical performance by the "Strange Arrangement" which consisted of vocal selections, guitar arrangements, skits and a bit of humor. The entertainers were from the San Jacinto Baptist Church, Amarillo.

Virginia Byars served as chairman for Secretaries Week observance here which has also included the awarding of rose remembrances to three "secretary's of the day." The roses were sent to the recipients at their offices during the week.

Honored as Secretary of the Day on Monday was Phyllis Custer, secretary to the Department of English at West Texas State University.

Tuesday's Secretary of the Day honor went to Jerri Holbert, secretary for Consumer's Fuel Association in Canyon.

Recipient of the secretary's rose on Friday was Grace Stringer, secretary for Virgil Henson, university vice president of financial affairs at West Texas State University.

Other activities for the local chapter this week have included a Secretaries Day luncheon on Wednesday and group attendance at the United Methodist Church in Canyon last Sunday.

Iverson's Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Vearl Iverson, former Canyon residents, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary May 27 according to Donal Iverson, their son. The Iverson's lived at 710 4th Ave. from 1929 to 1956.

While living in Canyon, Mrs. Iverson taught at Canyon Elementary School from 1945 to 1956. Iverson was employed by the Santa Fe Railroad. Mrs. Iverson is a graduate of WTSU and holds a B.S. and M.A. degree.

The couple now live in Crabtree, Ore. where Mrs. Iverson taught until her retirement in 1973.

Their son Donal who lives in Eugene, Ore., was born in Canyon and is a graduate of WTSU with a B.S. and M.Ed. degree.

Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to send congratulatory cards to Donal Iverson, 2774 Malibu Way, Eugene, Ore. 97405, prior to May 27.

Blender Luncheon Served Highland HD

"Using the Blender" was the topic of Mrs. Becky Hall, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent, at the regular monthly meeting of the Highland Home Demonstration Club as members met in the home of Mrs. Warren Thompson, 3600 Lenwood, Amarillo.

Mrs. Bernard Grabber presided at the business meeting which included a council report from Mrs. Boyd Elliott. Members also discussed and made plans for the May 16 May Day event of council.

Mrs. Hall's program was concluded with a complete blender prepared luncheon being served to members. Next meeting for the club will be May 22 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Boyd Elliott.

Members present were Mesdames, Boyd Elliott, C. R. Howard, Clarence Howard, Bernard Grabber, Jones Hales, Red Doyle, Ervin Podzemny and the hostess, Mrs. Thompson.

Marriage Rites Read For Miss Boone-Morris

Double ring marriage vows for Miss Diana Lynn Boone and James Bynum Morris were confirmed in ceremonies April 14 at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Amarillo with Leo Gee, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of John T. Boone of Canyon. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Morris, also of Canyon.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown featuring a satin bodice with fitted waist and cummerbund to the bust. Accenting the bodice was attached lace with bead highlights and buttons. Sheer organza embossed with butterfly designs accented the sleeves and overlaid the skirt with extending train. The sleeves were banded at the wrist.

Her veil of illusion was held to a band and accented with butterfly accents from the wedding gown which was made by her stepmother, Mrs. Jan Word of Canyon.

The bridal bouquet featured a gardenia with surrounding daisies and was carried atop a white Rainbow Bible.

Alicia Marie Boone and John T. Boone, sister and brother of the bride, presented vocal selections for the marriage ceremony.

Miss Boone sang My Sweet Lady and her brother soloed on the selection of The Lord's Prayer. They presented a duet on The Wedding Song. Accompanying at the organ was Cortez Dowlen of Canyon.

Daisies, chrysanthemums and gladioli in tall urns accented the pulpit area which was framed by candelabra with Cynthia Boone and Angela Morris presiding as the candlelighters. A kneeling bench was used in the rites.

Matching daisy bouquets were carried by the maid of honor, Lois Kelln, and bridesmaids, Jane Taylor and Mrs. Joe Don Stevens. They wore matching formal gowns in purple.

Flower girl was Melissa Rascoe, a cousin of the bride, and Doug Morris, the bridegroom's brother, was ringbearer.

Groomsmen were David Word and Don Cantrell. Richard Morris and Paul Sewell shared usher's duties.

A reception in fellowship hall of the church was presided at by United Methodist Women of the church after the marriage vows. A three-tiered wedding cake which had a miniature bridal couple for decoration was served.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio and points near Dallas, the bride changed to a travelling slack suit featuring yellow tones.

The couple has established their home at 2105 Polk, Apartment A, in Amarillo.

A graduate of Canyon High School, the bride attended West Texas State University prior to her marriage. The bridegroom formerly attended Canyon High School and earned his high school qualifications with the United States Army. He also attended Southwest Junior College in Killeen, Texas while serving with the U.S. Army and served in Korea. He is a third year apprentice carpenter with Bechtel Contracting and is presently working on the new ASARCO copper refining plant facility in Amarillo.

Westside HD Club Has Blender Tips

Westside and Pleasantview Home Demonstration Clubs held a joint meeting at the Farm Bureau Building recently for a program on "blenders."

Members answered roll call with tips using the blender and using their blenders concocted salads, breads, muffins, cheese toast and coleslaw which was served for members and guests at the conclusion of the meeting.

Next meeting for the Westside Club will be May 1 with Mrs. Ray Metcalf. Attending from the club were Mesdames C. H. Andrews, Bill Branum, T. J. Myers, Fred Richard, Ray Metcalf, J. G. Voelms, R. A. Burrus, and Ann Weaver.

Faith Chapel Site For Vows

Faith Chapel in Canyon has been selected as the site for the July 6 marriage being planned by Miss Mary Sue Neff and Bob Hogue.

Miss Neff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neff of McAllen and is a senior student at West Texas State University.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hogue of Sundown, the prospective bridegroom is employed in Amarillo.

Women's Chamber Membership Drive Begins

A membership drive is currently in progress for the women's division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, according to Evelyn Trice, chairman.

"We hope to double our membership by our June 4 meeting to be held at Canyon Country Club," stated Mrs. Trice. Lois Rice of the Furniture Galleries in Canyon is heading up the membership drive as chairman.

All local women are invited to join the group which meets 6 times a year and is involved in the growth and activities for promotion of Canyon. Membership dues are set at $12 per year and members are invited to join from any field.

"The husband does not have to be a member of the regular chamber for a woman to join the women's division," stated Mrs. Trice. "Of course, it would be for all our benefit if we could have the men join our chamber also."

About 30 members of the women's division were signed up as prospectives for the welcoming committee of the women's group at a recent meeting. Those participating voted to acquire identifying blazers for prominent identification as the Canyon women's division at social and civic functions throughout the area.

Deadline for ordering the new blazer uniform jackets is May 15 in order that they may be received for July distribution. Orders are being taken at the Towne Shop, 1911-B 4th Avenue, in Vaughan Plaza now.

The "red carpet" group is also working on an area relations project as a part of the chamber group's hospitality committee.

Other projects planned by the women's chamber division include a social calendar to be placed in the Canyon Chamber of Commerce office listing social events of the community. The calendar is a project of the Fine Arts Committee which is also developing a cultural center in conjunction with the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum on the university campus.

"With the expansion of our museum, we hope to have a special room or place for the collection of materials that have contributed culturally in every phase of the growth of WTSU and our area in general," according to Mrs. Trice. Various items would be collected and displayed in a manner that it might evolve as a research center under the sponsorship of the women's division.

In addition to other projects, the women's division has a beautification committee with several goals planned for the coming year.

Short-term plans of the beautification committee include the planting of 100 native pecan trees in private yards in the Canyon area through participation of Girl Scout troops here. Working under the direction of the Texas Highway Department, the women's division will also supply and plant trees as wind breaks and for beauty along various highway approaches to Canyon.

"We will promote the planting of chrysanthemums throughout our city," said Mrs. Trice. "We hope to especially promote the planting of maroon and white chrysanthemums in support of West Texas State University."

In addition the long range plans of the beautification committee of the women's chamber will cooperate with and support where possible the current Operation Facelift for Campus Enhancement at West Texas State University. The committee will also cooperate with and support beautification plans of the city for the Bicentennial Celebration committee.

Miss Kay Lynn Peek

June 1 Wedding Plans Revealed

The June 1 marriage plans for Miss Kay Lynn Peek and William B. Long are being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Peek of 6500 Dreyfuss, Amarillo.

Vows are scheduled to be read at Temple Baptist Church in Amarillo.

Miss Peek is a graduate student at West Texas State University and member of Alpha Chi National Honor Society.

The prospective bridegroom presently resides in San Francisco, California. He is the son of Mrs. Clara B. Long of Zuni, New Mexico and graduated from Canyon High School where his mother was formerly home economics instructor. He is an MBA graduate of West Texas State University and member of Kappa Alpha Order fraternity.

WOMEN'S DIVISION of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce will be outfitted in welcoming blazers after July as Linda Cooper, left, of the Towne Shop in Vaughan Plaza shows a similar blazer to other members of the group including Mary Greiner, Margaret Ruthart and Frankie Carlisle. Orders for the blazer are being taken now through May 15.

Home Decorating Theme Of Program

Home decorating was the theme of a program by Lois Rice of the Furniture Galleries in Canyon at the Tuesday meeting of Palo Duro Rusk Home Demonstration Club.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. W.C. DeBord with Mrs. Clem Dugan in charge in the absence of Mrs. A.R. Northcutt, chairman, who was visiting relatives in Minnesota.

Mrs. DeBord presented a report on the District 1 meeting held in Borger and was selected as the club's nominee to attend the state convention.

Plans were discussed regarding the May 1 cancer program, the appliance show at Western Plaza on May 2, and the home demonstration council's tasting tea for May 16.

A council report was given by Mrs. Bill West and the meeting was concluded with Mrs. Ross Russell leading a tour of the new West Texas State University library building. Seven members were present for the meeting.

Rehearsals continue at Canyon High School for the three one act plays that will be presented May 9 at 8 p.m. Here, students rehearse for "The Lottery" a story about how traditional customs could lead to latter difficulties. Other plays to be presented May 9 are "Under the Sycamore Tree" and "Once Upon a Playground."

Alliance-Francaise Musicale To Feature Local Musicians

The Alliance-Francaise of both Canyon and Amarillo will present the fourth Soiree Musicale at 8 p.m. today, April 28, in the concert hall of Amarillo Art Center.

An educational organization, The Alliance-Francaise is dedicated to the furthering of French culture and languages and includes a majority of members from Canyon and Amarillo with a few from other parts of the Panhandle. The concert is open to the public.

The group annually provides student scholarships for youth in both Amarillo College and West Texas State University and sponsors a variety of French movies and various French cooking lectures and demonstrations.

President of the group is Monica Heiman, French professor at West Texas State University.

The fourth Soiree Musicale will feature musicians from both AC and WTSU and will have a soprano performance by Judith Balo who earned the BME degree in voice from West Texas State University in May 1969. She held a 3.5 grade average and was a student of Miss Elsa Porter.

In 1970, Miss Balo earned the master's degree in music at University of Southern Mississippi where she was a student of Mr. Marion Nowakowski and held a 3.9 grade average. During July and August 1970, she participated in the Villa Schifanoia Graduate School of Fine Arts in Florence, Italy where she was involved in opera workshop as a student of Tito Gobbi and Guigi Ricci.

Professionally, Miss Balo has performed in operas including "La Boheme," "Marriage of Figaro," "Cosi Fan Tutte," "Voyage to the Moon," and "L'enfant et let Sortileges." She was also in musicals of "Texas," "Carousel," "Camelot," "Most Happy Fella" and "Carnival."

As a soloist she has appeared with the University Orchestra and Chorus of the University of Southern Mississippi; the Meridian Symphony Orchestra; and was presented in special recital in West Germany and Florence, Italy.

Miss Balo, who graduated from Robert E. Lee High School in Midland, will be accompanied at the Soiree Musicale by Raenell McDonough who is also a graduate of WTSU in piano and presently serves as organist at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Other locals slated to participate in the program Sunday evening are Robert Hoffman at the piano for "Jeux d'eau;" Donald Todd, violin, and Janice Schmutzer, piano, for the "Violin Sonata in A Major, Opus 13."

Canyon High School's Chamber Singers will be directed by Tom Jennings as they present selections from Maurice Ravel's "Trois Chansons" including "Nicolette" and "Rondo."

Following intermission will be a dual performance by Michael Matesky, cello, and Nancy Matesky, piano, in the Francois Couperin work of "Pieces En Concert." Janice Schmutzer, pianist, will perform in "La cathedrale engloutie" and Riana Muller, violin, and Robert Hoffman, piano, will perform together in "Violin Concerto No. 3 in B minor, Opus 61."

Appearing in the final round of selections will be Robert Krause on oboe, Alan Hawkins playing bassoon and Janice Schmutzer at the piano, as they perform "Presto," "Andante" and "Rondo" from the "Trio pour piano, hautbois et basson."

Buff Morris Honored At Okla. School

Milton "Buff" Morris of Canyon, was honored Thursday with a "Milton Morris Recognition Day" at Oklahoma State Tech.

Purpose of the celebration was to recognize Morris for services rendered to Oklahoma State Tech and many of its graduates and current students.

Morris was named an honorary member of the Tech faculty by Director Wayne W. Miller. Okmulgee Mayor J.R. Haney proclaimed April 25 as "Milton 'Buff' Morris Day" in the city. And both Mr. and Mrs. Morris were presented various mementoes of the school.

A long-time friend of Oklahoma State Tech, Morris was instrumental in Tech's being qualified to participate in the national student financial aids program. Tech's aid program is now one of the largest in the state of Oklahoma and has helped thousands of students.

Morris is best known throughout Oklahoma and Texas for his founding of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., a non-profit, student-lending program designed to help men and women finance post-secondary educations. OPI receives its funds from private donations and, in return, lends that money interest-free to students. Each applicant is interviewed to determine financial needs and genuine interest for an education.

Morris has encouraged more than 100 students to enroll and complete their program of study at Oklahoma State Tech.

Program for the Morris Day activities included a campus tour, a recognition luncheon prepared by Tech's culinary arts students, and a campus-wide recognition assembly. Relatives, friends and staff representatives of Mr. and Mrs. Morris were on hand for the occasion.

WEE School Begins Enrollment

The WEE School, Weekday Early Education, of the First Baptist Church of Canyon is enrolling for the fall semester. Forty students were enrolled during this past year.

Small creative play classes are offered for three year olds, two mornings each week, and for four year olds three mornings each week. Two classes in each age group are taught so that the children may be placed very close together in age and ability. During the past year, there were 24 three year olds and 16 four year olds enrolled in the program.

Teachers are Mrs. Kenneth Baker, older four year olds, Mrs. Lyndell Moore, older three year olds and Mrs. Wallace Johnston, young three and young four year olds.

Those interested in the program may call 655-2501 or one of the teachers for further information or to enroll their child.

Alcoholism Due Study May 9 In WT Seminar

Six governmental agencies will sponsor a Panhandle-South Plains Criminal Justice Institute of Alcohol Studies May 9 on the West Texas State University campus.

The one-day seminar will feature speakers from throughout the area and will concern the problem of the alcoholic.

Sponsoring the seminar are WTSU, Texas Tech, the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, South Plains Association of Governments, the Texas Criminal Justice Council and the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Registration for the day's activities will be from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. at the activities center on campus.

Women's Chamber Members Involved At Workshop Meet

"Horizons of Involvement" was the theme of a workshop sponsored by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce during the week end.

Representing the women's division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce at the workshop were Margaret Ruthart, Grace Knighton and Mary Greiner.

Awareness Conference For Methodists Sunday

An "awareness conference" will be held Sunday evening, April 28, at the First United Methodist Church beginning at 7 p.m. with a joint meeting for a brief presentation on structure of the church.

Those attending will then divide into specific groups to study the following topic sections: Education and Ecumenical Affairs with Norman Cobb, associate pastor, and Ross Staton, committee on education chairman, instructing; Evangelism and Visitation with Freddie Lair in charge; Worship and Church Wide Study with Mrs. Eddie Holcomb; Services Beyond Our Walls with Raymond Hinders instructing; and Stewardship and Finance with Emmitt Smith in charge.

Following the 45 minute special section discussions, the group will reassemble in the sanctuary to discuss their findings and will dream of the possibilities as well as discussing, past, current and plans for the church movement, according to Norman Cobb.

Dr. Ruth Lowes, overall chairman for the conference, has been helped by the Leadership Development task force including Emmitt Smith, Ruth Holladay, Lynn Guy, Judy Green, Kenneth Waugh, and Mr. Cobb.

Adult Clinic For Netters Set In May

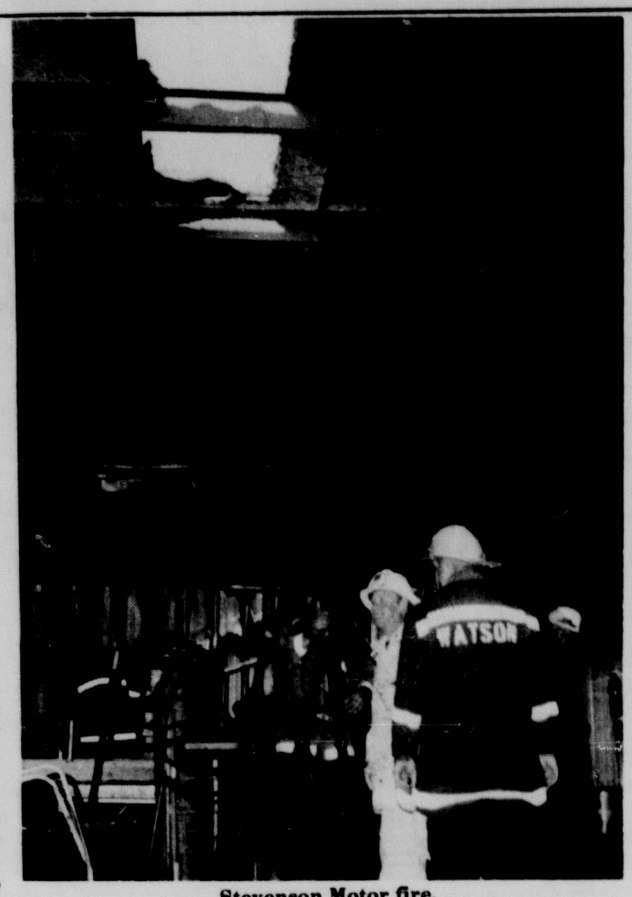
West Texas State University will sponsor its first annual West Texas Tennis Clinic for adults May 11 and 12 with WTSU tennis coach David Kent and Roland Ingram as directors.

Billing the clinic as "a week end of tennis," the directors have planned two full days of activities on the university courts.

Clinic fee is $30. Applications are available from Kent at Box 413, WT Station, Canyon 79015.

Lectures, drills and demonstrations plus plenty of playing time are included in the two days of the clinic.

Those in the clinic should bring a racquet, tennis togs and warm-ups. Balls will be furnished.



Stevenson Motor fire.

$25,000 Estimated Damage To Stevenson Motor Co.

One of the larger destructive fires at a business establishment occurred this month at Stevenson Motor Company. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

The fire began when wires shorted in conduit in the wall of the service center. All the service employees had left and salesmen were locking up for the night when the fire was discovered.

According to Howard Sanford, salesman, when he heard the cry of "fire," he grabbed a small extinguisher and ran to the service area. When he entered, tires on two pedal cars that had been stored in the area blew up and spread the fire to the extent that the extinguisher would do no good.

The fire department had been called during this time. It just happened that the fire occurred on fire drill night for the volunteers according to Sanford. Sanford said that it took about seven minutes for the firemen to respond to the call.

According to Sanford, the Canyon fire chief said that if they had been three minutes more in responding to the call it would have probably been too late. He said that it was a good thing that the volunteers were at practice at the time of the call.

Stevenson's has begun to clean up and repair the damage caused by the fire. A firm from Lubbock was hired to fumigate the building to rid it of the smell of smoke. According to Sanford, the firm will probably have to replace some of the insulation before all the smell is eliminated.

Music Director Guest On Sunday

Doug McCause will serve as guest music director of Calvary Baptist Church in Canyon Sunday morning, April 28, in view of a call to become church music director on a part time basis.

He is choir director at Canyon Junior High School and has formerly directed church music at Highland Baptist Church and Summitt Baptist Church, both in Amarillo, and Beuna Vista Baptist Church in Borger.

Mr. McCause is married to the former Genie Knighton of Canyon. They make their home at 1805 8th Ave., Canyon.

He is a graduate of West Texas State University where he received a Bachelor of Music Education degree.

Yes, an electric water heater is the only one you can store stuff on top of. There's no flue or vent, all you need are water pipes and an electrical outlet, so you can put an electric water heater almost anywhere you need hot water fast. Put one under the kitchen sink, next to your laundry facilities, even in the bathroom! An electric water heater is insulated on all sides. That keeps the water hot and makes the tank cool to the touch so you can even store stuff all around your water heater, when it's electric!

somewhat.

Following the alleged assault, she testified, Williams told her "you can call the police if you want to," but she told him "to get out and leave me alone."

On cross-examination, the barmaid testified she had not more than one drink during the day on the job.

She testified she asked Williams to leave her home several times during the course of the hour-stay at her home before the alleged assault.

She testified she did not call police for several hours because she feared the incident would cause her to lose custody of her children.

Bond Sales Open For Methodist Church Growth

Bond sales of $450,000 to finance new projects for the First United Methodist Church of Canyon were officially opened Sunday, April 21, with $165,000 of the bonds being reserved.

About $285,950 in sales had come in through Friday morning. Bond chairman is Mrs. George Bullman with Eddie Holcomb as the vice chairman. Sales managers for the bond program are Paige Carruth, Myron Dees and Dr. Dudley Moore with Mrs. Jeff Gunter as services chairman. Dr. Hubert Thomson is co-vice chairman.

The bond sales will finance a new sanctuary, office suite, choir room, nursery, library, parlor, five adult classrooms and 4 children's classrooms for the church.

Ambassador Church Finance Company of Brentwood, Tenn. is assisting in the financing of the new building for the church. Bill Burton of Lubbock, is directing the program.

Bonds may be purchased by any interested persons by contacting the church office. The 8 percent bonds will be figured semi-annually and teams from the church have been visiting the membership week nights for the past two weeks.

Rev. Bill Kent is pastor of the local church.

Few Absentees Cast Ballots

Fewer than 75 persons have cast absentee ballots for the Saturday primary elections.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton said about 50 persons have cast absentee votes in his South Amarillo office and only about 7 persons have voted absentee in the Canyon courthouse.

Absentee balloting ends at 5 p.m. Tuesday for the primaries.

The Amarillo office will be open from 2 to 8 p.m. today especially to take absentee votes. The Canyon office will not be open today.

Elementary School Sets Track Meet

Fourth, fifth and sixth grade students at Rex Reeves Elementary School will compete in track and field events beginning May 1. The fourth grade events will be on Wednesday, the fifth grade on Thursday and the sixth grade will compete on Friday.

Students may enter five events, but these must be divided between running and field events. Students may not use metal spikes on their shoes nor use gloves for the tug-of-war.

Run-offs will be during class periods, before school and during recess.

The events for each class will be divided into boys division and girls division.

The events in the track competition are the 50 yard dash, 50 yard sack race, 100 yard dash, 50 yard three-legged run, 200 yard shuttle run, 400 yard run, 400 yard two-man, 400 yard four-man relay and 400 yard mixed relay.

Field events will be the standing broad jump, running broad jump, basketball free throw, high jump, chins-flexed arm hang and the rope climb.

Run-Off Eyed In Elections

The Student Supreme Court at West Texas State University will hear argument Monday on a petition filed Friday to call a run-off election in the student body elections held last week on campus.

Mike Hazlett, supreme court justice, said the petition filed Friday by the student attorney general seeks a writ of mandamus to order an election committee to hold a run-off.

Hazlett said the student constitution is silent on the issue of a run-off in the presidential and vice presidential races.

But, he said, a new student election code passed in March provides for run-offs.

The controversy surrounds the close vote in both the presidential and vice presidential races which were tentatively decided by student balloting last week.

Bettie Jo Davidson of Midland, was tentatively elected president of the student body by polling 242 votes. Dion Miller, of Dawn, polled 227 votes in the race. Two other candidates were also entered in the contest.

In vice presidential competition, Don Judd received 273 votes and Gene V. Morrison received 252 votes. Two other candidates split another 250 votes.

Visitin' Folks

Hazel Roberts was visiting with a daughter, Bonnie Mills, in Aspen, Colo. recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. (Whitey) Voelm of Canyon were among those participating in the activities of the recent "rock" show held here. Mrs. Voelm (Maggie) was shown on the television news coverage of the show.

Miss Karen Sue Thompson of Galveston was in Canyon one weekend recently to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Thompson. She was here before assuming her new duties as director in licensed child care in public welfare to be serving in Liberty, Chambers and Galveston Counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Miller and Kevin were in Tulia last week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Wylie Hannah. The Millers visited and cared for their grandchildren, Brian, Bruce and Rhonda, while the Wylie Hannahs travelled to Vernon to attend funeral services for his aunt.

Clarence N. Cosby was transferred from Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo to Neblett Memorial Hospital in Canyon Tuesday. Mr. Cosby has been in intensive care while in the Amarillo hospital and is reported to be recuperating well now. He is in Room 9 at the local hospital and is expected to return home in several more days. He was critically injured March 25 in a pickup-train collision in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Miller of Canyon recently spent a week in Los Alamitos, Calif. visiting with their son's family, Major and Mrs. Ralph E. Miller, and daughter, Michelle. Major Miller completed the Air Force Academy in 1960 and is presently with the Satellite program there. Mr. Miller is the former principal of Canyon High School and his wife previously taught at the junior high level here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Tippery and daughter, Jo Elyn, attended funeral services for his mother, Mrs. W. E. Ball, on April 14. Mrs. Ball died at her home in Jefferson, S.D. The Tippery family traveled by airline flight to South Dakota for the final rites.

Hedda Gabler Matinee Today

"Hedda Gabler" will be presented at a 4:30 p.m. matinee today, April 28, in the Intimate Theatre of the Fine Arts Building on the campus of West Texas State University.

The play is presented through combined talents of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity, and the Buffalo Masquers, university drama club, and earlier in the week was presented along with "Private Lives."

Directing "Hedda Gabler" is Neva Chowning, cast business manager for Alpha Psi Omega and graduate student in drama.

Playing the role of Hedda is Robin Goodhue. Also on the cast are Don Washburn, Shelley Hamrick, Cheryl Tatham, Pamela Hurst, Ron Williams, and Matt Ohmes. The period setting for the play is by Brian Ference and Mark Chalupka.

Tickets will be available at the door with proceeds going to the drama scholarship fund.

Junior Varsity Defeats Hereford

Canyon High School junior varsity baseball team defeated Hereford 15-3 in a game played last Thursday. The JV's have won their last eight games.

The JV's have only played Hereford this season. All junior varsity teams in the area had a full schedule when Coach Bob Sloan, baseball coach for the Eagles, began looking for teams to play.

In the first game of the season, both Hereford and Canyon used an all sophomore team. Canyon won the first game 22-1. In the second game Canyon won 16-5.

In the second game, Hereford began moving varsity players down to the junior varsity. In the last game between the two teams, five varsity starters played for Hereford.

Canyon uses all sophomores on its JV team. Sloan said that he wanted these boys to play together and work together as a team. Sloan said that the JV plays the varsity during workout sessions and are real competitors.

Sloan feels that these players will hold their own in varsity competition this next year and in the following year they will probably win it all.

Lion's Selling Through May 2

The "broom and mop" sale being conducted by the Canyon Evening Lions Club has been extended ro run through May 2 due to the overwhelming response already received from local residents.

Lions are conducting the continuing sale door-to-door and are offering all types of household articles. Funds raised by the project will benefit many worthy causes, according to George Stevens. Residents may contact Stevens, 655-3740; Lyle Denny, 655-7698; or Ken Denny, 655-3639; to order the merchandise if you were out when a Lion stopped by.

EIGHT MEN'S TEAMS participated in the Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi's annual volleyball tournament last weekend with honors going to the Hap Rogers Agency of Tulia, represented by Dave Edwards, center, which won first place. Other trophies were to the Six Packs of Nazareth, second place, represented by Ralph Albracht, left; and third place to the Huxfords of Tulia, represented by Rex King, right. Not pictured was Dan Hayslip, team captain for Eubanks team of Amarillo which won fourth place.

Brockmans Gain Two Honors In High School Who's Who

Stephanie and Brian Brockman have been selected to Who's Who Among High School Students.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brockman of Vega, formerly of Umbarger. Grandparents of the two young honor recipients are Mr. and Mrs. George Brockman and Clarence Beckman, all of Umbarger.

Stephanie was noted for her achievements in the Future Homemakers of America for which she has received her state degree. She served her chapter as first vice president for two years and is also president of the Catholic Youth Organization and past president of her 4-H Club. She is in Explorer Scouts and plays with the percussion section of the Vega High School Band. She is a senior lifeguard and has her water safety instructor's certificate. During summer months, she is employed as a camp counselor and swimming instructor at Camp Summer Life in New Mexico. Miss Brockman plans to attend West Texas State University as a social welfare major specializing in the juvenile field.

Brian was honored for his work in the Key Club of Vega High School, which he serves as club secretary. He is also active in the Catholic Youth Organization and the Scouts of America, Troop 16. He is a member of the Vega Future Farmers of America chapter and plays football with the Vega Longhorns.

Booze Tax Funds Come To Govts.

The City of Canyon and Randall County received checks last week totalling almost $1000 for their share of the state revenue sharing mixed drink tax.

The city received a check for $84.72 from the state comptroller's office while the county received $754.

City Manager George Loudder said the check was apparently a part of a 10 per cent gross receipts tax placed on the sale of mixed drinks in the city and the county.

Beef Dollar Stretch Demonstration Slated

Terra Cotta and Happy Cow-Belles will hostess an "educational beef program" Tuesday May 7 at 9:30 a.m. in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church in Happy.

The program will be presented by Texas Agriculture Products and will have Frank Brooks, meat specialist, and Miss Cindy Hamm, home economist, presenting the program.

"Stretch Your Beef Dollar" will be the theme of the meeting as demonstrations are given on how to cut steaks from roasts, how to choose the correct cuts for different dishes and how to select economical cuts. Several beef dishes will be cooked to demonstrate proper cooking of beef to make it more attractive and appetizing.

Those who register will be eligible for the prepared beef dishes demonstrated, which will be awarded as door prizes. The public is invited to attend.

pleted a project testing pollution of irrigation water, and other water in the county. The project has received state-wide and national recognition and she has given papers on the project for various scientific societies. She is to compete at the International Science Fair this summer with her project.

Dan McGlasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene McGlasson, was third high student in the graduating class at CHS. His average was 95.7636.

Costs. . .

Figures prepared by Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, indicate the county now furnishes the city with tapes on 38,000 vehicle registrations in the Amarillo portion of the county.

She estimated that the service provided for Amarillo at no charge costs the county about $20,552 per year.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton provides copies of deeds and other instruments conveying property to the city at a charge of $60 per month.

He also sends them a copy of all wills and inventories and appraisements in probate matters. No charge is made for this service.

In addition, the county rents the city of Amarillo punch-card voting equipment at $5 each for elections in the city.

didn't have to stop because his father has an easement on the road.

Sheriff Cliff Longest said apparently Bedwell was using the feed truck to haul feed to the cattle on one side of the lot.

The Happy feedyard has been in a turmoil for more than two weeks as directors of Happy Wheat Growers have contacted cattle owners to remove more than 20,000 head of cattle from the yard.

Financial difficulties spurred the closing of the lot about two weeks ago.

She explained that the thinking of many voters is to vote in the Democratic primary to vote against some candidate in a race in that party. Their hope is, she said, that they will be able to use their vote twice — against a Democratic candidate in the primary and for a Republican candidate in the general election.

But, Mrs. Sterquell said, all too often when a voter casts a ballot for a Democratic candidate and that candidate does well in the primary, the voter will stick with the candidate and support him in November.

Mrs. Sterquell said she does not expect many cross-over votes in this year's primary election because the Democratic primary ticket offers little for excitement among voters.

Political Science Professor Dr. Walter Shelly of Canyon, who pursued a doctoral dissertation on voting patterns in the Panhandle, said many Randall County residents apparently feel themselves not associated with either major party.

"I think if you would talk with the man on the street seven out of 10 would say they vote for the man rather than the party," Shelly said.

Shelly termed this idea largely a myth.

He said Randall County has many loyal Republicans.

"I still believe party loyalty is a strong factor," he said.

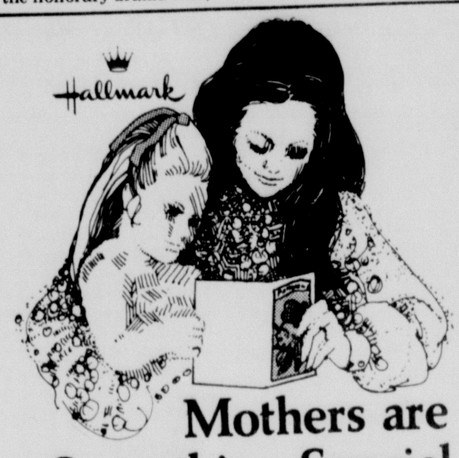
BIT Drama Awards Saturday, May 4

Annual "drama awards night" for the School of Fine Arts at West Texas State University will be held Saturday, May 4, at 8 p.m. in the Branding Iron Theatre.

The program is annually sponsored by the university drama club which is open to all interested students and follows the title of Buffalo Masquers. Co-sponsoring the awards program will be the honorary drama club, Alpha Psi Omega, which draws its membership from outstanding students involved in drama activities at the university, according to Dr. William A. Moore.

Open to the public at no charge, the awards program is a culmination of the year's activities in the speech and drama department. Drama students themselves cast votes for those selected to receive the honors Saturday night.



Mothers are Something Special

Each of us has a special feeling about his Mother. Each describes that feeling in his own way on Sunday, May 12. We have a Hallmark card that lets you say Happy Mother's Day, your way. You select the card, you select the message. Then put them together. It's called Personal Expression.

HALEY'S

655-2201 CANYON, TEXAS

Two members of the President's Council at West Texas State University, Jim Irwin, left, and Dr. Charles Nester, enjoy an evening around the campus Wednesday. Members of the council, major supporters of the university, participated in a revolving dining session as honored guests of WTSU.

Classroom Teachers To Honor Retiring Teachers

The annual Classroom Teachers Association banquet will take place May 7 at 7 p.m. at the Canyon Junior High School cafeteria.

The teachers will honor all retiring teachers. The recipient of the Canyon school teachers scholarship will be named.

Members of the Future Teachers of America will serve.

18 City Students In French Test

Eighteen Canyon High School students have participated in West Texas State University's first annual sponsorship of the National French Contest.

The purpose of the contest, held annually across the United States, is to stimulate more students to begin and continue their study of French, and to help identify individual student and teacher achievement.

"We hope to hold the contest every year following this," said Mrs. Monica Heiman, WTSU French teacher and chapter contest chairman.

The Canyon High School contestants are students of Mrs. Reeves.

Those scoring in Level I are: Robert Splawn, 45; Marcella Patterson, 43.3; Linda King, 40.2; Richard Brown, 36.9; Donald Stribling, 36.9; Brenda Sellers, 33.6; Tammy Trew, 31.9; Kerry Cox, 31.9; and Sherry Hughes, 30.2.

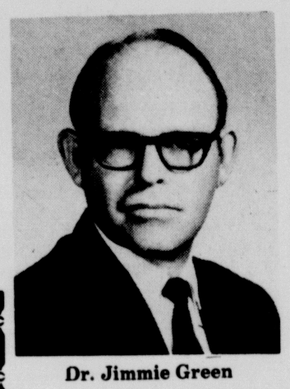
Also scoring in Level I were Lawrence Young, 26.9; Terry Trew, 20.3; Lawrence Jones, 28.6; Mary Heiman, 41.7; Janet Oppe, 40.2; Wayne King, 38.5; Cathy Bullock, 35.2; Don Robertson, 35.2; and Anna Thompson, 30.2.

Canyon High School girls' track team participated in the regional meet at Abilene last Friday and Saturday. Canyon won their district with 219 points. On the regional level they will be competing in 15 events. Members of the team are, first row, l. to r., Denice Hamblen, Louise Davis, Penny Peckenpaugh, Brenda Stevens, Karen Carlile, Cary Camfield, second row, Lynn Davis, Sheryl Adams, Serena Morris, Bonita Orick, Deborah Mitchusson, Robena Johnson, Marci Davis, Robbie Morris and Alisha Nelson.

Phoenix Club Dinner Set Tuesday At WTSU

Members of West Texas State University's Phoenix Club, an organization of friends and supporters of the University, will meet for their 11th annual Phoenix Club Dinner, Tuesday evening, in the east dining hall on campus.

Traditionally, the Phoenix Club recognizes an outstanding member of the West Texas State University faculty or staff with the presentation of the "Faculty Excellence Award" at the annual dinner meeting. The Faculty Excellence Award includes a check for $1,000.



Dr. Jimmie Green

To receive the award this year is Dr. Jimmie Green, head of the Department of Plant Sciences in the University's School of Agriculture. Dr. Green will be cited for being an outstanding teacher and for his exceptional service to West Texas State and its students, to his community and to his former students. The award will be presented by Mrs. Thelma Evans of Tulia, President of West Texas Ex-Students, Inc.

Dr. Green was born in Lubbock, Texas, on August 9, 1929. He received his undergraduate and masters degree from Texas Tech University, and his doctorate at Texas A&M in 1970. Dr. Green was married on December 26, 1955, and he and his wife Mary have two children. The Green family lives at 1504 Creekmere in Canyon.

Among his credits are: research work in weed control at the Bushland Experiment Station, a published report on "Root Systems of Wollyleaf Franseria and Texas Blueweed," and outstanding service on many committees concerned with University policy and operations.

West Texas State University's Student Man of the Year will also be recognized at the Phoenix Club Dinner. The three finalists for the honor are: Dale H. Corbin of Wichita Falls, who was nominated by Phi Delta Theta; Bily Black of El Paso, who was nominated by Buffalo Masquers; and Thomas J. Forsyth of Happy, nominated by Beta Beta Beta. The presentation will be made to the winner by Activities Center Program Director, Jim Holston.

Phoenix Club members in attendance at the 11th annual dinner will be entertained by the men's glee club of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia under the direction of Dr. George Umberson. The Phoenix Club is composed of friends and supporters of West Texas State University who contribute a minimum of $60 per year to the organization. Proceeds are used for scholarships, publications and other projects to benefit West Texas State.

Community Education To Begin New Class

"Interior Design" class of the Community Education program sponsored by the Canyon Independent School District will open at Gene Howe Elementary School May 2, at 7 p.m.

The class will run for four weeks, two hours each Thursday. Fee for the course is $4 per person. Minimum age for the course is 16. Mrs. James Palmer will be the instructor.

This course presents a practical emphasis on present day interior design. Such topics as color, house orientation, room function, emotional effect, specific areas such as floors, walls, draperies and upholstery and accessories, furniture, "What's on the Market Now," "inherited pieces," textiles, fabrics, carpets, hard surface flooring, how to make best investment for dollars spent, home crafts and maintenance.

Those in Canyon wishing to enroll in "Interior Design," "Cake Decoration," and "Flower Arranging" will have until April 30 to enroll in these courses being offered at Rex Reeves Elementary school.

The flower arrangement class will be meeting at H.R.'s Flower Shop. Flower arrangement was the only class to enroll the minimum number of students.

Hot Check Law To Be Discussed

A discussion on the "Interpretation of the New Hot Check Law" will be at 7 p.m., Wednesday in West Texas State University's University Complex South, Room 101.

Sgt. Jim Brewer of the Amarillo Police Department will lead the session, which is being sponsored by the WTSU Marketing Department. Brewer has noted that "over $90,000 a minute is lost throughout the nation on hot checks."

A public service to all area business persons and interested individuals, the workshop includes a film strip and discussion on how to identify a potential hot-check writer.

The public is encouraged to attend.

Little Sister To Fraternity

Mary Lou Richey has recently been named a pledge of the ATO Little Sisters at West Texas State University.

The Little Sisters organization is primarily in existence to help with functions and activities of Alpha Tau Omega men's fraternity at WTSU. The group was organized during the fall semester of 1973.

Miss Richey is also a member of Zeta Tau Alpha national social sorority and a sophomore student at the university. She is a 1972 graduate of Canyon High School.

Elect A Canyon Man

DISTRICT JUDGE

It just makes sense for both Canyon and Amarillo, the two seats of the 47th and 181st district courts to have a judge in residence.

Canyon people now have an opportunity to elect a local man District Judge.

Bryan Poff is the only Canyon man in the race for 47th District Judge.

Poff is a seasoned public servant with four years in the legislature to his credit. He is a student of the law, fair and responsible.
